

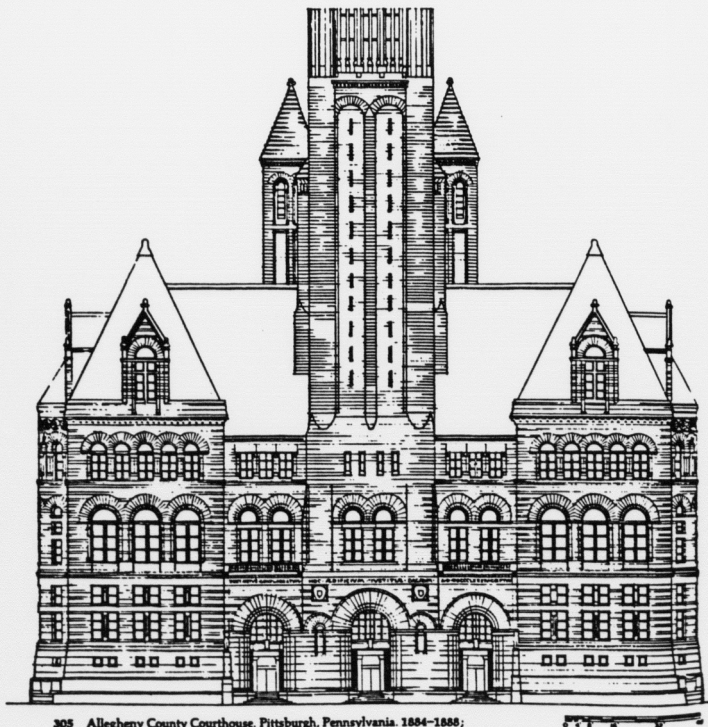

EXHIBIT I

ALLEGHENY COUNTY COURTHOUSE, Pittsburgh, Pa., 1884-1888, designed by Henry Hobson Richardson. Given below is a xerographic copy (77% full size) of the line drawing of Allegheny County Courthouse, Pittsburgh, Pa., that is given on page 206 of A Field Guide to American Architecture by Carole Rifkind (New York: New American Library, 1980).

305 Allegheny County Courthouse. Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. 1884-1888; Henry Hobson Richardson, architect. A strong and sculptural composition, with an enormously tall tower rising from the massive triple-arch entry at its base.